Hey Jake—Dean Keene says all foreign objects, including your snake, have no place in the ring!

STOP CLOWNING AROUND!

Dear RINGSIDE,

I'm sick and tired of watching "street fighting" on TV. What I want is wrestling! Wrestlers bring foreign objects, such as chairs, rolls of quarters, and chains—not to mention snakes—into the ring. They must think we're stupid!

It is ridiculous to watch these goings on, especially with such big and strong men. I would like to see the referees start to do their job and start disqualifying a few of these so-called "wrestlers." I call them clowns!

Dean Keene
Finksburg, MD

LET'S GET BEHIND DUSTY

Dear RINGSIDE,

I am writing in regards to the American Dream, Dusty Rhodes, and Ric Flair. In my opinion, Dusty is the greatest wrestler in the NWA. If Ric Flair had to defend his title honestly, Dusty has enough strength and skill to beat Rick Flair for the title. In my opinion, Dusty is the people's champion!

Mike Peckinpaugh
Santa Fe Springs, CA

THREE'S A KICK!

Dear RINGSIDE,

Here's what's on my mind:

1) Will someone please tell Rick Rude to shut up?

2) Someone needs to make Percival Pringle stay away from the ring.

3) I think the Von Erich triple drop kick is so cute, the way they let an opponent have it all together!

Jennifer Stenger
Decatur, IL

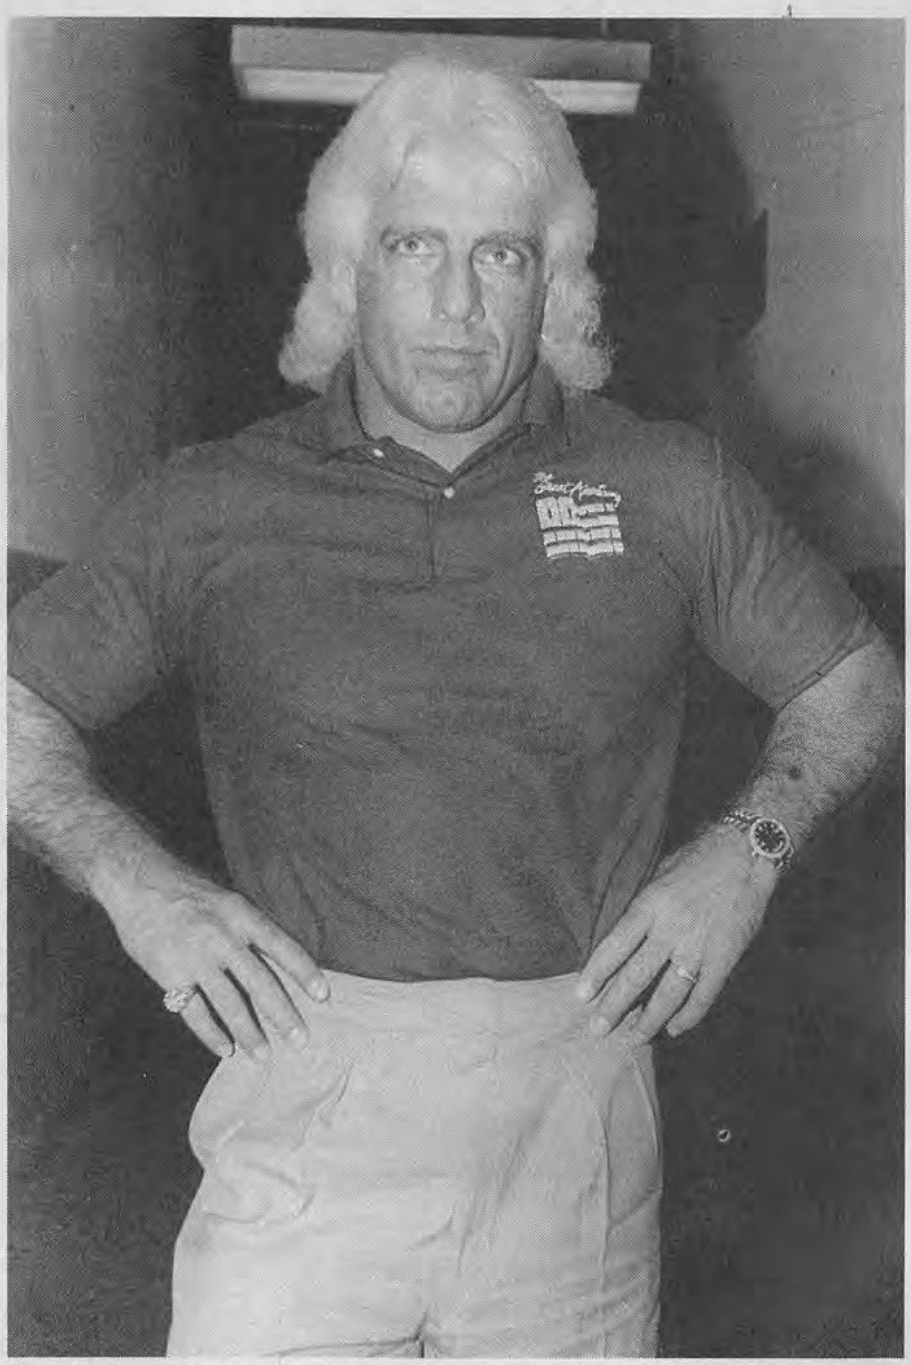
BUDDY'S REAR IS NO ROSE!
Dear RINGSIDE,

I love your magazine! I also love Sean Michaels of the Midnight Rockers, I could dream about him forever, but it gets kinda hard after awhile since I forget what he looks like. In other words, could you please put some more centerfolds and pinups of him 'n' Marty in your magazine—OK? Thanks.

Meanwhile, who does Larry Zbyszko think he is? He's calling us "spud heads," but he should look in the mirror sometime. He says he's the "Living Legend," well, the Living Legend lies, cheats and wrestles rotten!

And what about Buddy Rose? (Don't stop me, I'm on a role). He flexes his muscles, but I ask: "what muscles?!" All I see is fat. If that stomach hung any lower, he might trip over it! For all you folks who, like me, hate Buddy Rose, you'll be happy to know that he got his shorts pulled down by Curt Henning, in Warsaw, Wisconsin, August 31st. What a rotten sight that was!

Amber Markowski
Warsaw, WI



Hey Flair—Bobbie Hughes says you and the other Horsemen are lily-livered cowards!

MEN OR MICE?
Dear RINGSIDE,

You know, I watch every wrestling association there is on TV. NWA, WWF, AWA, UWF, CCW, WCCW, USA-All Stars, Japanese Women's Wrestling, etc. I've seen a lot of mean and evil things happen, but after seeing the footage of what the Four Horsemen did to Dusty Rhodes, well, all I can say is if his Majesty, Bob Giegel doesn't fine or suspend them, then it proves that they may be the Horsemen, but he's the Horse's rear-end!

When that many men tear into another, like Dusty, and then stand in front of the camera and do what they did (tie Dusty to a truck and beat his arm with a baseball bat) and get away with it, then something is not right!

If the Four Horsemen are the men they say they are, then why does it take all of them to take out one other man. They're not men—they're a pack of lily-livered cowards!

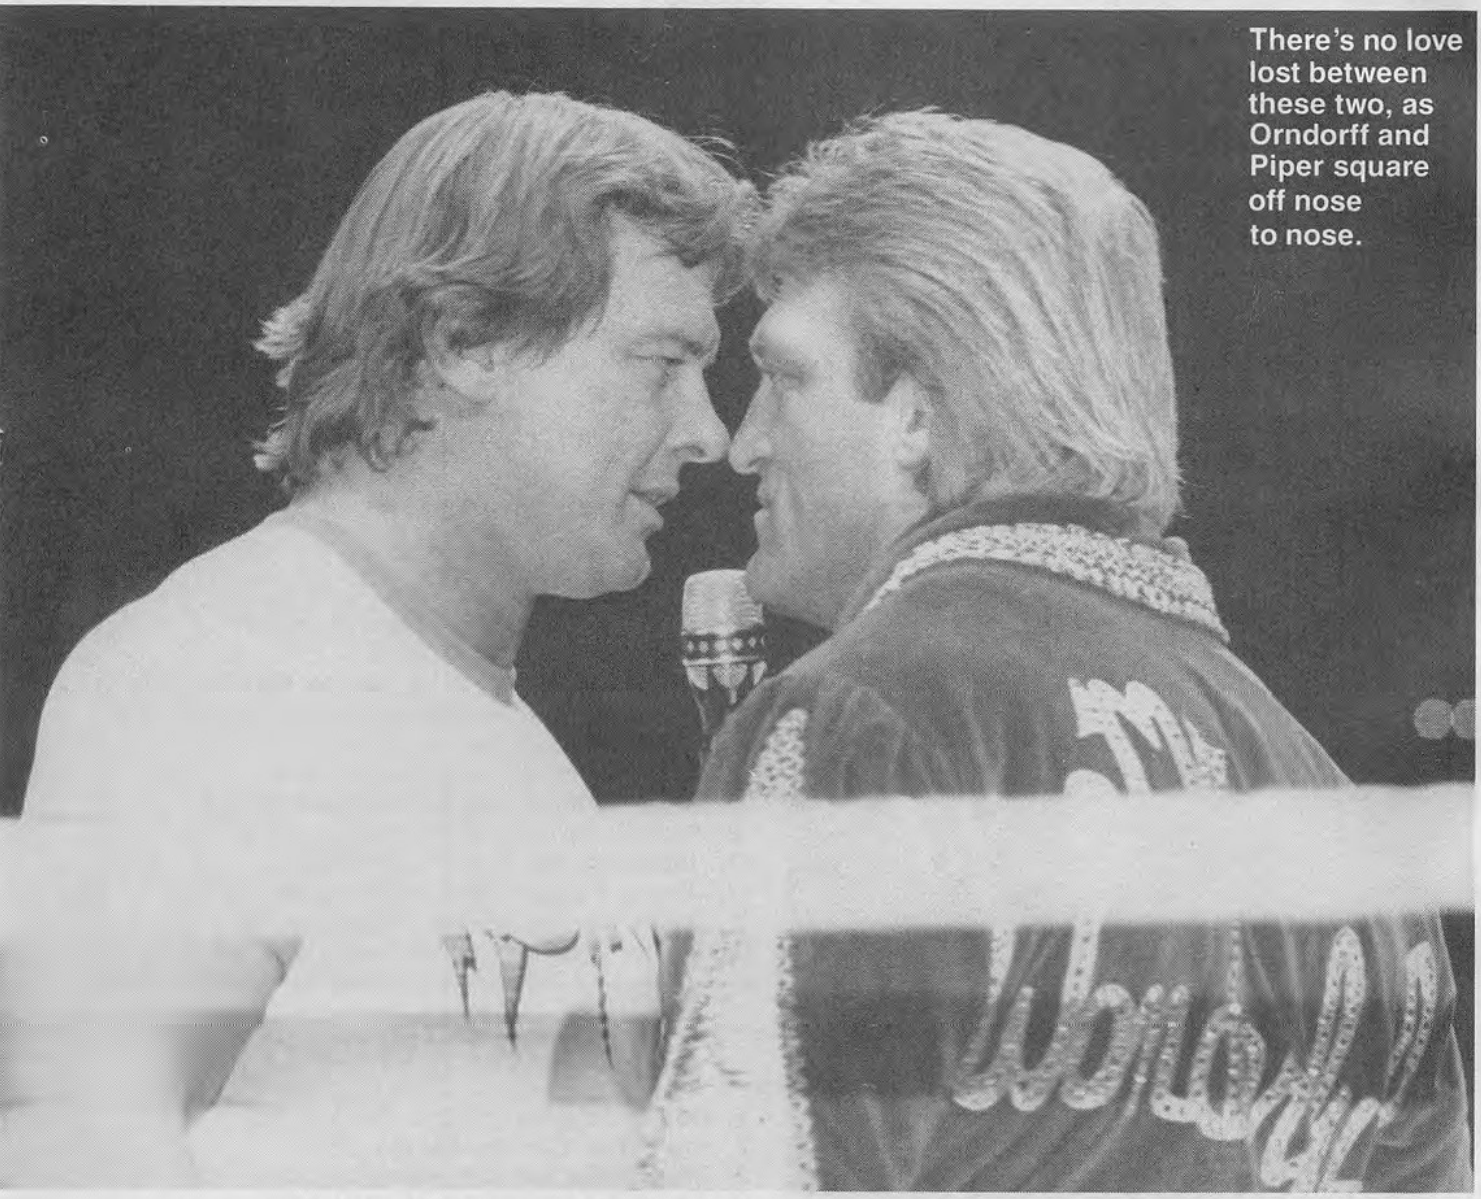
PIPER & HOGAN TEAM TO SHOOT DOWN ORNDORFF



There's no love lost between these two, as Orndorff and Piper square off nose to nose.

"Rowdy" Roddy Piper is back, and the wild Scotsman is just as cynical, just as obnoxious as ever. This time around, however, the fans are solidly behind him. Actually, it's hard to explain why the fans feel so differently towards the Rowdy One now, as he hasn't changed that much over the past four years. But the fact remains that Roddy Piper is now challenging Hulk Hogan for the position of number one in the hearts of the faithful.

Since returning to the scene, Roddy Piper has battled the Iron Sheik, Nikolai Volkoff, his former bodyguard "Ace" Orton, Adrian Adonis, the Magnificent Muraco and Mr. Wonderful, Paul Orndorff. In addition, he's once again hosting Piper's Pit, an interview talk segment on the WWF telecasts.

Piper was away from the action for six months, and by his own admission, was content to stay away from "the madness" forever. But, as he told a Madison Square Garden audience, "I grew tired of watching some nerd in wrestling talking about how tough he was—so, I broke his arm! You will not see the flower shop any more."

Piper returned to Madison Square Garden to conduct a live Piper's Pit with "Mr. Wonderful" Paul Orndorff. After speaking his mind for several minutes Piper called for Orndorff to make his appearance. Instead of Orndorff, however, Bobby "The Brain" Heenan appeared—alone.

"Excuse me, sir, Mr. Brain," Piper said, "I believe you forgot someone! But Bobby Heenan completely ignored Piper. After Heenan claims that Orndorff could get millions of tag partners, but then has trouble thinking of even one.

Piper insults Heenan in front of a crowd of 30,000.

Piper spent a moment praising the Mets, the fans heard "How about those Red Sox?" from Heenan. Piper jumped in and said, "I bet you $50 the Mets take it. I bet you $100, $1,000, How about $10,000?" After Heenan nodded, Piper told him, "You've got yourself a bet!"

After a brief exchange Heenan told Piper, "In order to bring Mr. Wonderful out here you have to do it in a special way. This man is the greatest athlete going and nobody is going to stand here and ridicule Mr. Wonderful. Now ladies and gentlemen please stand up and rise for the greatest wrestling machine in professional wrestling today. I give you the one, the only, 'Mr. Wonderful,' Paul Orndorff."

Piper's back, and could be battling Hogan for the #1 spot!

Upon hearing Heenan's introduction, Hulk Hogan's theme song, "Real American" blared over the loud speaker. Soon, Mr. Wonderful made his way to the ring.

"It's nice of you to grace us with your presence," Piper told Orndorff. "But the last time I saw you in Madison Square Garden you were lying on your back." With that, Piper and Orndorff nearly came to blows. It was obvious to all that it wouldn't be long before the two were swinging it out.

"The music I just heard kind of rings a bell," Piper told Orndorff. "Is it original?" Orndorff answered, "It was written especially for me. Hulk Hogan stole that damn music.

"I know who the song was written for," Piper countered. "I know you and Hogan have a battle going. Couldn't you have been a little more original than that?"

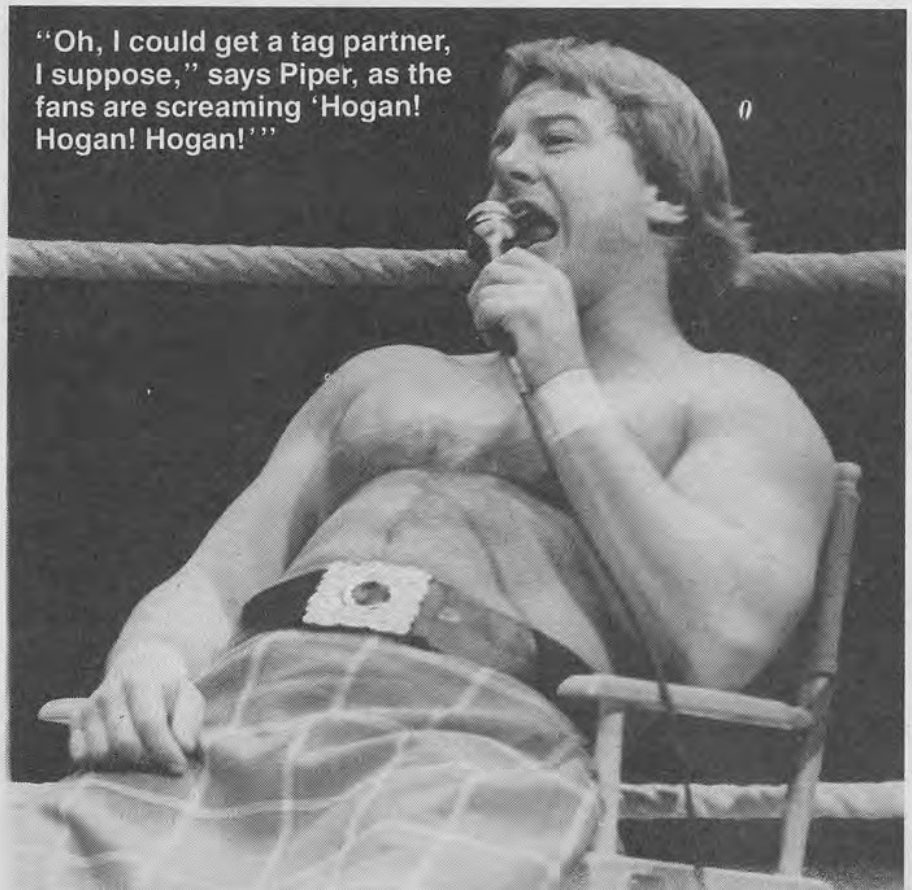
Turning to the crowd, Piper said, "Let's get down to facts. This guy here not only turned on me—he also turned on Hogan, and now he has no friends at all. I certainly wouldn't team with a loser." Bobby Heenan interrupted Piper and told him, "Every time this man is in a tag match, and you know this better than anyone else, he does 98% of the wrestling in the ring." Piper replied, "and he does 100% of the losing too!"

After bickering for several minutes, Heenan informed Piper that they would have "The King," Harley Race in their corner. Piper snickered when Race's name was mentioned.

"And who would you have as a partner?" Heenan questioned. Piper asked the crowd for help. Their overwhelming reply was "Hulk Hogan!" Hearing this, Paul Orndorff and Bobby Heenan went crazy. They were just about to attack Piper when Piper struck first, hitting Heenan in the eye with the microphone. Then, with the interview "completed," Roddy Piper casually strutted out of the ring, as Orndorff and Heenan remained inside the ring, ranting and raving.

Now that Roddy Piper has returned, can we really expect him to team with his long time enemy, Hulk Hogan? Say it ain't so, Roddy. Roddy Piper was great the way he was. Teaming with Hulk can only destroy Piper's mystique. Hopefully, this is merely a ploy by Piper to get back at Hogan. Then we will again see the real "Rowdy" Piper in action.★



"Oh, I could get a tag partner, I suppose," says Piper, as the fans are screaming 'Hogan! Hogan! Hogan!'"

The Hot Rod insults Heenan and Orndorff, and the crowd eats it up!

KENDALL WINDHAM

Flying fists or karate chops, he'll destroy ya!

Kendall tries to position Kareem Muhammed for the pin.

Give Kendall Windham credit. He's no more than 220 pounds, soaking wet, yet he's fast becoming one of the top stars in the wrestling profession. He's held the Southern Heavyweight belt, the Florida Heavyweight title and the Florida tag team title too. Right now, Kendall is progressing at the same rate that his brother Barry did on his climb to the top.

"I'll settle for being half the wrestler Barry is," Kendall states. "Barry knows everything about this sport and he's been my inspiration for years. Yet, I want to make it on my own."

Kendall certainly is making it on his own. He's battled many of the sport's top stars, and he has quite an impressive record to show for it. Of late, Kendall's biggest rivals have been long time family enemy Ron Bass and the notorious Kendo Nagasaki. Still, Kendall has more than held his own against both.

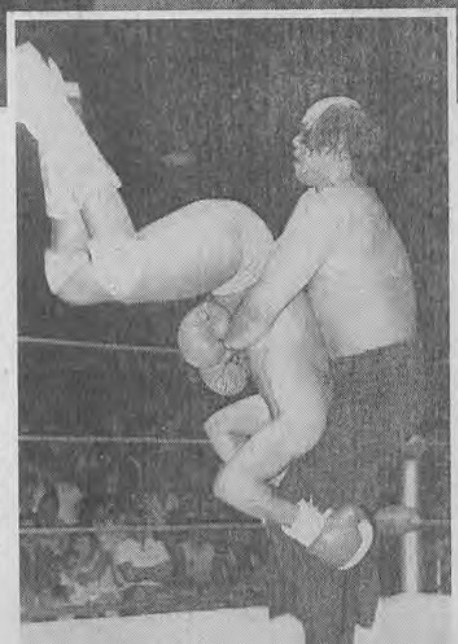
"Ron Bass is one of the toughest wrestlers around," Kendall admits. "I first saw him almost five years ago, when he was at war with my dad. A short while later, Bass and Barry had it out, and as you know they're still going at it today. When I started wrestling I knew that it was only a matter of time before we would battle too."

Surprisingly, the young Kendall has given Ron Bass much more trouble than he ever imagined. He's won quite a few matches from him and he's also painted Bass' back yellow after winning a match in which the winner got to paint a yellow streak down the loser's back.

Beside's Bass, Kendall has also done very well against the notorious Ninja, Kendo Nagasaki. Kendall holds a string of upsets against the martial arts master. "Kendo Nagasaki is one tough dude," Kendall states. "You never really know what the man is going to do next. He can surprise you with his outstanding karate moves and kicks, or he could take you down with conventional wrestling tactics. Either way the man is deadly."

Kendall bounces back to give Nagasaki more than he bargained for.

In addition to wrestling Nagasaki, Kendall has also put on the gloves and boxed the man. And, in their boxing bouts, Kendall once again surprised everyone with his outstanding techniques.



Nagasaki combines some wrestling moves with boxing, in their anything goes contest.

Kendall Windham packs a lot of might into his less than intimidating frame.

"I boxed as an amateur, and after seeing Nagasaki use his fist and feet, I figured my best defense would be to box him," Kendall relates. "I suggested the boxing bouts and everyone thought I was crazy for doing so. But I knew exactly what I was getting myself into when I challenged Nagasaki to a boxing match. Next time I know that he won't be so quick to accept when someone challenges him."

The boxing match between Kendall Windham and Kendo Nagasaki was outstanding. Kendall bobbed and weaved, laying in left and right at will. Nagasaki tried to counter with his karate techniques, but he was definitely mismatched against the talented Windham. When the bout was over, it was Kendall who prevailed.

Kendall Windham has Kareem Muhammed screaming in pain.

Kendall shows Nagasaki that he can battle him with boxing gloves, as easily as wrestling him.

"I finally got him tonight," a jubiliant Windham stated. "And I will say that the last time we fought I could have beaten him too, except that he had some help from Humperdink and his friends." Kendall paused for a second to collect his thoughts, and then continued. "I don't care what I have to do to win. If these guys want to fight, we'll fight. If they want to wrestle, that's better, but it really doesn't matter to me one way or the other. I'm at the point now where I have to start to make a name for myself. I think I've done pretty well, considering the top competition I've faced, but I still expect to improve. I feel I've come a long way in a relatively short period of time, but there's still a lot more to learn and accomplish."

Kendall Windham's an amazing wrestler, at ease wrestling, boxing or unleashing a flurry of karate chops.

Kendall Windham is making a slow but steady climb to the top. He's already won several titles, and in the process defeated quite a few big names. Right now Kendall is knocking on the door to stardom and it won't be long before he barrels right through it. ★

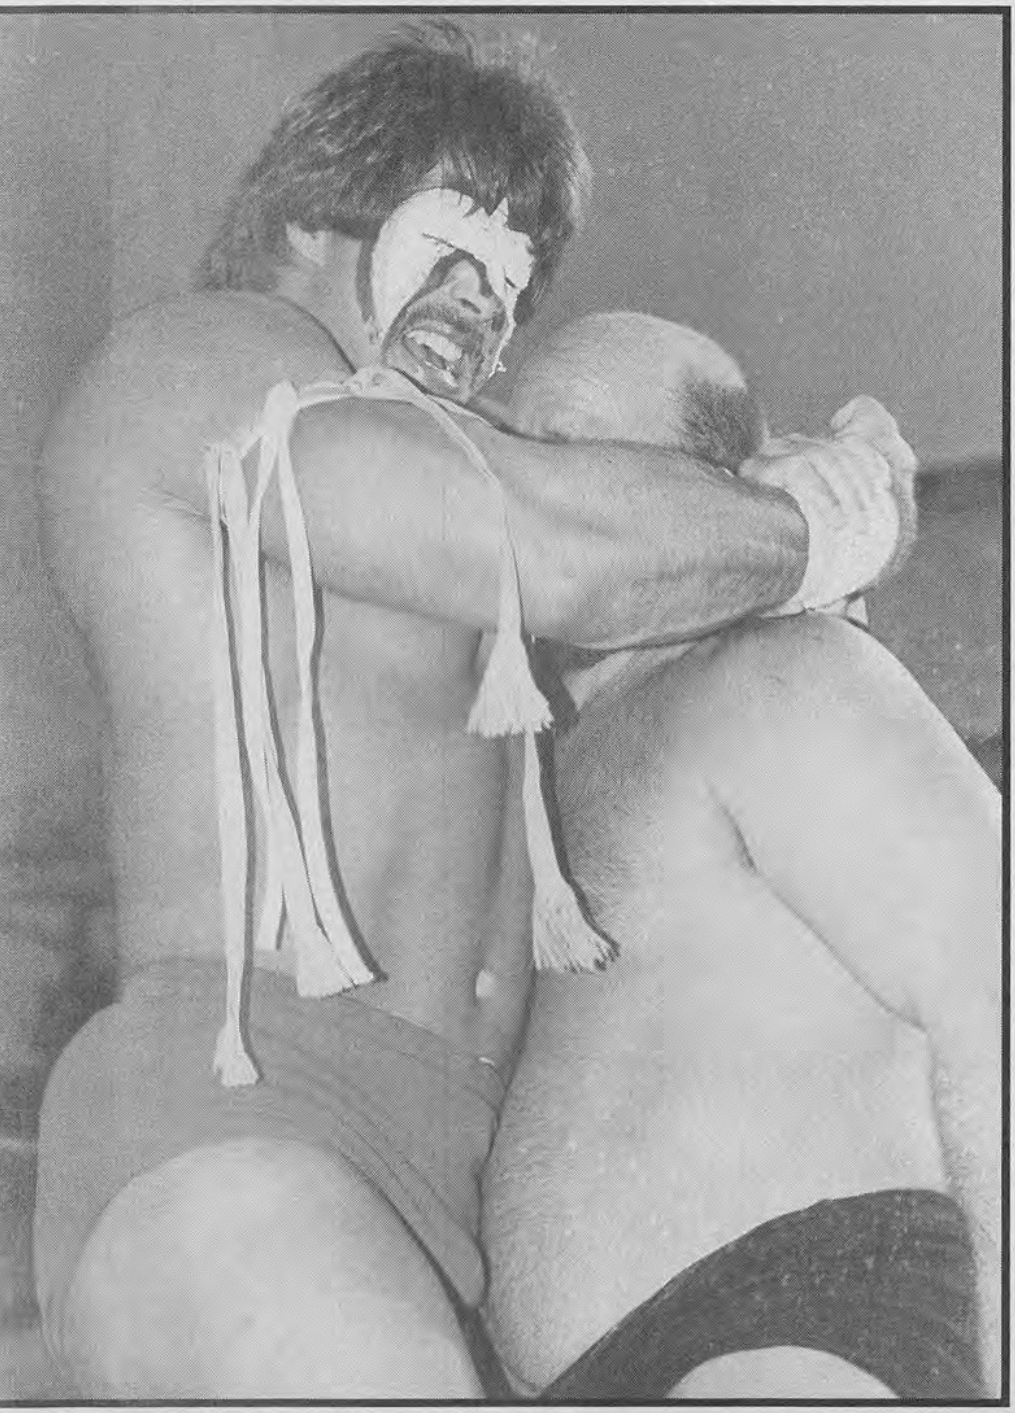
Doublecrossed by Sawyer & Borne!

by C.J. Horton



One of the neat things about professional wrestling, is that ultimately, it's the fans who decide which wrestlers bask in their approval as favorites, and which are designated as hated rulebreakers. A case in point is that of the newest World Class star, the Dingo Warrior.

Dingo entered the area under the expert guidance of the villainous Gary Hart. Hart has not been favored by the fans in Texas since the Ice Age, due to the fact that his love for sadism has grown more warped than a melted L.P. But, however much the fans dislike Hart, they still respect his eye for talent, and when Hart produced the Dingo, he had the fans' attention.

Dingo was big, strong and talented, as well as sinfully handsome. It wasn't long before the World Class fans reacted, and Hart, Master of Villains, must have thought he was going to the ring from the wrong dressing room. The crowds liked the Dingo—that is, unless he wrestled a Von Erich (in Texas, they don't like anyone who wrestles a Von Erich).

Hart quickly sold the Dingo's contract to the beautiful woman manager, Raven, who had Ravishing Rick Rude's career in her lovely hands as well. Theirs was a short association, and when Rude and Raven left the World Class area, the Dingo found himself alone for the first time. Meanwhile, despite the garish face paint and the growling, snarling, just plain bad manners of the Warrior, the fans never accepted the Dingo as a bonafide rule-breaker. For one thing, Dingo, while not always wrestling a scientific match, never really broke the rules to win his matches. And win he did, as for a while it looked like Texas didn't have anyone big enough to even knock him down, much less put his shoulders to the mat for three seconds.

It wasn't long before the Dingo found himself enjoying the envy of the men, and the admiration (that's an understatement) of the women, who crowded the cards when he wrestled. Still, the Dingo tried to go on the side of the bad boys one more time. He signed a match in which he and the World Class Tag Team champs, Buzz Sawyer and Matt Borne, would take on the World Class Six Man champs, Kevin, Lance, and Mike Von Erich for the Six Man titles. The Dingo's relationship with Buzz and Matt was strained going into the affair, because he had been a part of the feud between Gary Hart and their manager, Percy Pringle, in the not too distant past.

The Dingo Warrior used to be under the influence of Gary Hart.

The match began smoothly enough. The impromptu team was clicking, and the bout was progressing smoothly when the Dingo moved to tag out to Sawyer. Astonishingly, Sawyer turned his back and moved away from the tag rope. Dingo stayed in the ring and maneuvered his way back into a position for another try. This time, urged on by their manager, Percy Pringle III, both Sawyer and Borne turned their backs on the Dingo. The Dingo ended up being used as a mop by the Von Erichs, who always pull out all the stops when it comes to those Six Man belts. When the bell sounded, and the Von Erichs claimed their belts and returned to their dressing rooms, Percy climbed into the ring and began to verbally abuse and berate the Dingo.

Percy doesn't usually make a tactical error, but when he does, it's a whopper. Dingo, enraged by the treatment he had received at the hands of the Pringle Dynasty, reacted by yanking Percy's cane away from him and beating Percy severely about the feet and toes with it. The fans roared as Percy danced around the ring, trying to keep his toes intact, before the irate Warrior snapped the thick walking stick and threw it out of the ring. Then, Percy got treated to a clothesline, as the Dingo went after the man who had caused his embarrassment. Sawyer and Borne came racing back to ringside to the aid of their manager, and Dingo let them have a taste of his powerful standing clothesline as well. When the ring cleared, and the forces of Percy Pringle had beat a timely retreat, the Dingo Warrior stood on the turnbuckle and acknowledged the rythmic chant of his fans. That was the beginning of the feud that has the World Class rocking.

The Dingo has since declared war on Sawyer and Borne, and announced his intention of teaming with South African Steve Simpson in a bid for the World Class Tag Team titles, held currently by the Mad Dog and Maniac. It was during that interview that the fur really started flying when Sawyer and Borne charged into the ring and attacked the Dingo. Dingo was holding his own, until Percy handed Sawyer's chain to Borne and he and Buzz wrapped it around the throat of the Dingo and yanked him down to the mat.

Then, before anybody could blink, Steve Simpson was there and the ring suddenly was empty. Needless to say, the Dingo was furious over the whole situation. At the Cotton Bowl, he and Simpson battled Sawyer and Borne until the Dingo was disqualified. He lifted Buzz Sawyer high over his head and threw him into Matt Borne. That would have been okay, except that Borne was outside the ring on the ground. That title shot was lost, but neither Simpson nor the fans held the Dingo accountable. Everyone pretty much agreed that seeing the hated Mad Dog flying over the top rope was well worth it.

The fans have started a love affair with the big New Yorker. The men envy his physique and the women swoon when he passes down the aisle on his way to do battle. Having had a rapidly growing number of fans since his days with Gary hart, the Dingo appreciates the support he receives. Officially a rulebreaker, the fans made Dingo one of their favorites anyway. Wrestling fans know talent and the Dingo has a full measure of everything it takes to be a star grappler. It's gratifying to see a spectator sport that is as geared to the fans as pro wrestling is. This is one case that proves that, in World Class at least, the fans have the deciding voice in their favorite sport. ★

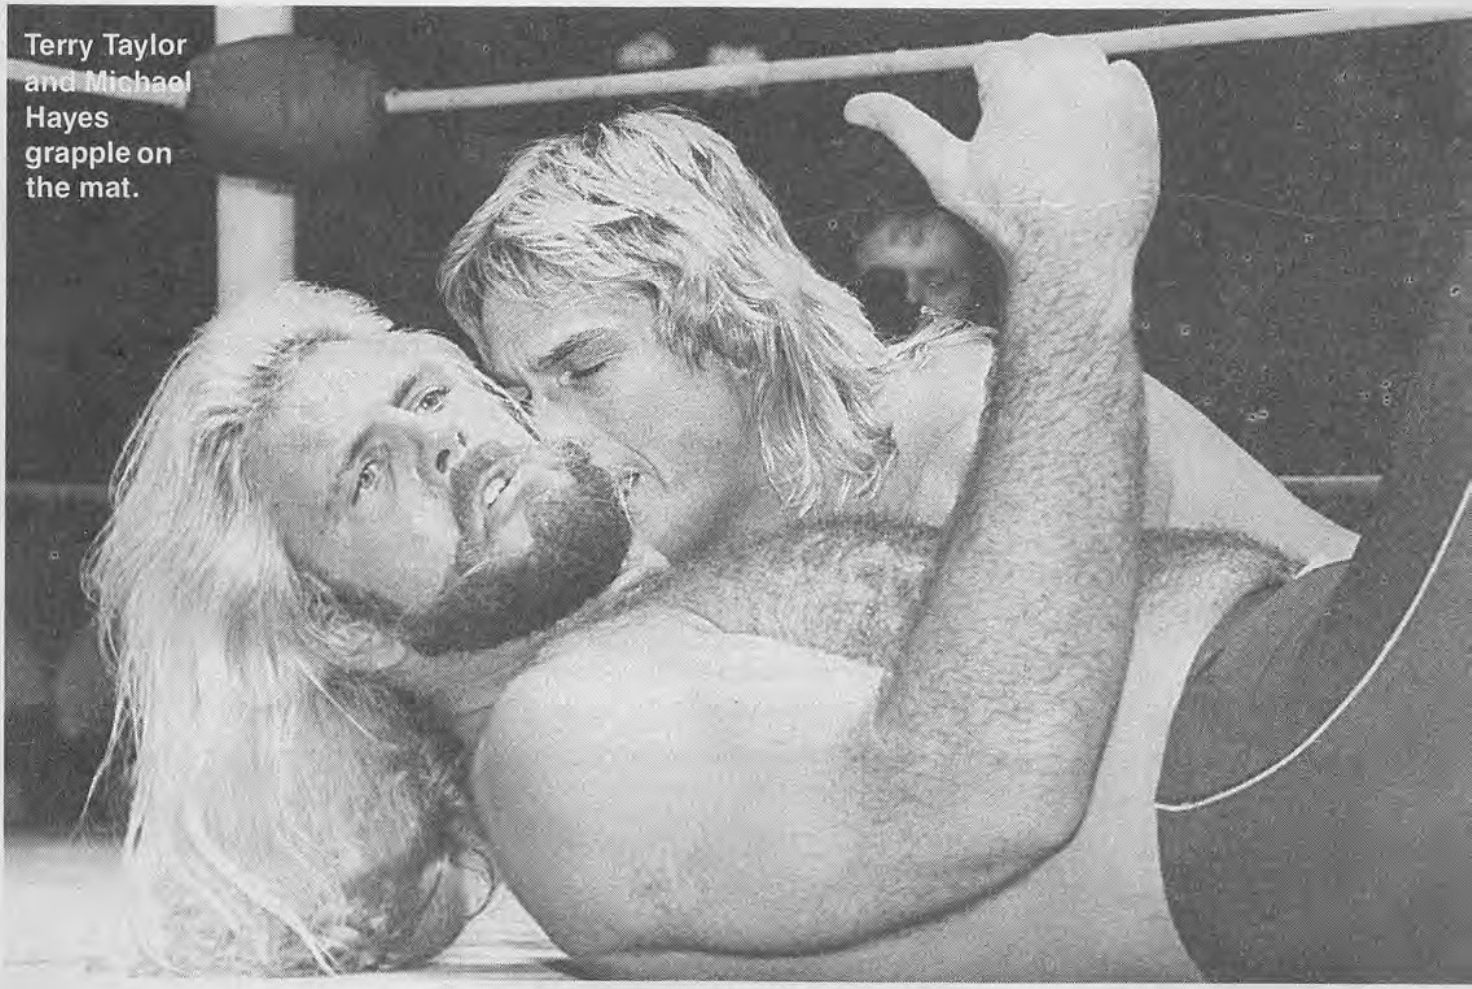
TERRY TAYLOR'S NEW LOOK

The best just got better!



Terry Taylor and Michael Hayes grapple on the mat.

When you watch as many wrestling telecasts and tapes, and attend as many cards as some of us do, you sometimes lose track of changes in the different area mat stars. The changes that I'm referring to aren't the obvious ones, such as when a rulebreaker jumps the fence or when a colorful new costume is worn to ringside. It's the gradual changes, the subtle almost unnoticeable ones which creep up on you.

I hate to admit it, but I got caught with my glasses off the other day, when a friend of mine asked me if I had seen Terry Taylor lately. Of course I'd watched Taylor lately, I thought. What's the matter with this nut, asking a question like that?

The incident left my mind until later in the week when I tuned in to watch the UWF telecast, and I thought, why not conduct a little experiment? I flipped on the wrestling fan's best friend, a trusty VCR, and taped the telecast. Afterwards, going back a ways, I reviewed some of Terry's matches from a year ago, and then some of his more recent bouts.

Well, I am embarrassed to say it, but there have been some major changes in Terry Taylor—ever since that eventful match where he lost the National title to "Nature Boy" Buddy Landell. These changes slipped by, unnoticed by me, and become a part of Taylor's overall style.

The first change that comes to mind is Terry's physical appearance. Taylor's been streamlining himself over the past year, with some pretty positive muscular definition. There are times inside the ring, down in the clinches, when a couple of gasping sweaty wrestlers come to be locked together in an all-out ultimate test of pure strength. In a situation like that, technique often plays a poor second to muscle. And there are other changes that have evolved in Terry Taylor, his time spent in the gym being one of the most obvious.

Throughout his career, Terry has been one of wrestling's golden boys. Clean-cut, purely scientific wrestling has been a trademark for the talented fan-favorite—it still is. Taylor wrestles well within the rules, but there's a new attitude in Terry's style. He doesn't seem to be as tolerant inside the ring as he used to be. Terry has made the transition to "experienced" in a rapid and decidedly forceful way, resulting in tremendous strides towards improvement in his career. He's not as gullible or as easy to bluff as he once was. His inherent "Mr. Nice Guy" has been replaced with a "let's get it on" philosophy.

Terry knows that winning matches can't be done from his back, and he doesn't wait long enough to get decked before he moves in and takes charge of a match. If anything, Terry Taylor has improved his speed above all else. His breaks are just as clean as ever, and are a fraction of the time he once took to give an adversary a breather. Tighter suplexes and stronger whips are only a couple of the measurements of Taylor's improvements. As important to Terry's career as these touches are, the reasons behind these changes play an even bigger role in the overall picture.

Terry Taylor's looking streamlined and oh so fine!

Anyone who is even remotely familiar with professional wrestling knows that strolling down Bad Street is hazardous to one's health. Recently, Terry Taylor found out just how nasty the Fabulous Freebirds can get when he lost his UWF TV title to Roberts the biggest of the 'Birds, but he is probably the most talented—at rulebreaking. Roberts has elevated it into an art form. Most wrestlers target one body part to work on and weaken during a match, but with Roberts, it's always the eyes of whoever he's in the ring with, and Taylor is no exception.

Hayes begs not to be flipped.

When Taylor and Roberts got together to decide the fate of the UWF TV title, it came down to Taylor's fast, clean wrestling against Roberts' unparalleled rulebreaking. The TV title is a crucial belt in this particular case, because the holder of this belt is the number one contender for the UWF Heavyweight belt, which is currently held by yet another Freebird, Terry Gordy. Things didn't go well for Terry Taylor that day. He got pinned for three critical seconds and Roberts walked away with the TV belt. Contrary to popular opinion, there was no controversy concerning the end of that match.

It's no surprise that Taylor took the loss of this TV title in stride. He didn't whine, or rave about being "cheated" out of his title. He's already looking forward to his rematch, maybe even more than one rematch—however many it takes to get his belt back. Terry also has some unfinished business with Buddy Landell, who just entered the UWF. That is another, older feud, and one which Terry might just be ready to finish.

LET A CHAMP SHOW YOU HOW — MOVE BY MOVE!

He was Heavyweight Wrestling Champ of the World and A.A.U. All-Around Judo Champ. He's smart and tough, and he's beaten guys bigger and stronger on his way to the top. He calls them "finishing holds," and they are the great equalizers between big and small, smart and strong. There are elbow locks, back cranks, the Boston Crab, the Indian Death Lock, nose crushes, eye crushes, and much, much more.

In this 7" by 10", 157-page book, are the hundreds of how-to photos and easy-to-read type that could show you how to be a winner. Some of these holds, developed by LeBell himself, have never been seen before, and pros agree the surprise element might even defeat them.

Even though Terry is more aggressive these days in the ring, he remains a gentleman. His style hasn't changed, so much as been refined—and honed to a razor's edge. In conclusion, my friend was right. There have been major changes in Terry Taylor this past year. I'm glad I took the time to take a good close look at Terry Taylor—it was worth it! ★

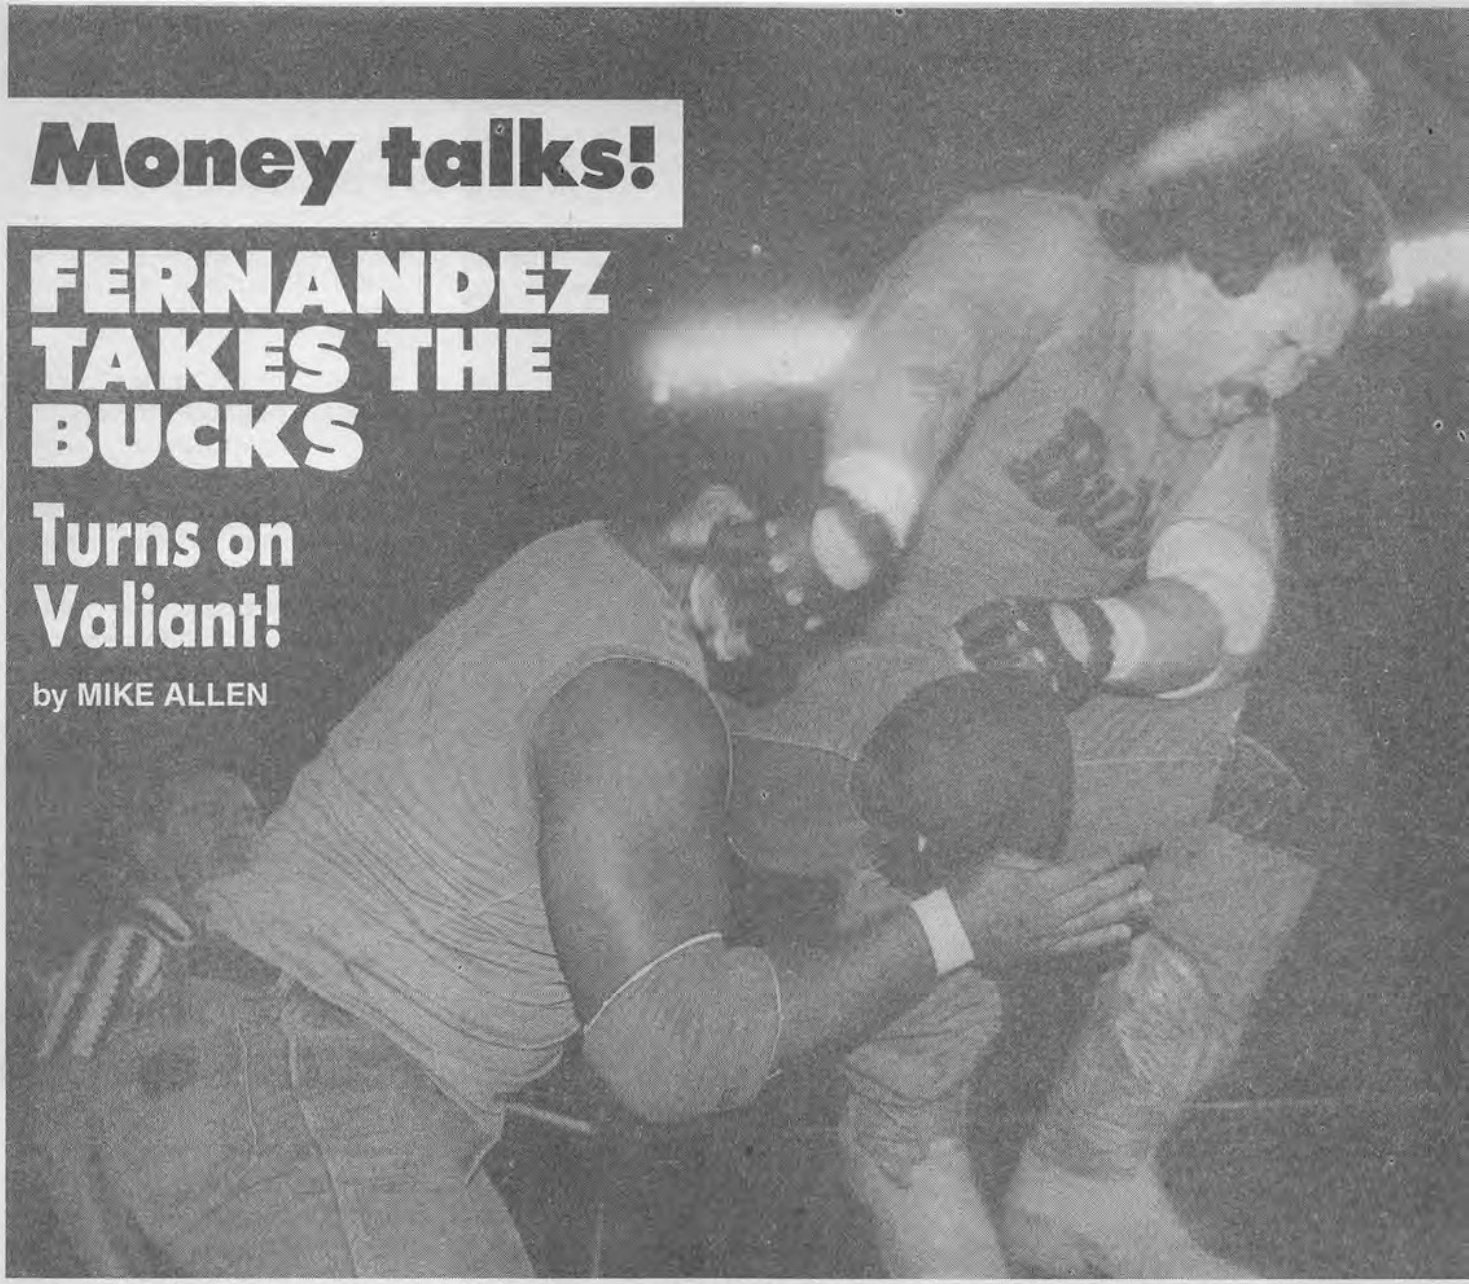
FERNANDEZ TAKES THE BUCKS

Turns on Valiant!

by MIKE ALLEN



Manny Fernandez smashes into Shasta Whatley, but now the two wrestle side by side.

After nearly three years of battling Jimmy Valiant, Paul Jones seems to have the upper hand in his ongoing feud with the "Boogie Woogie Man." Ever since their paths crossed, Jones has tried to rid wrestling of Valiant, but none of his proteges were ever able to defeat him—either physically or by breaking his spirit. That is, until a recent turn of events in which another one of Valiant's friends crossed over into Jones' camp.

It was less than one year ago when "Pistol" Pez Whatley and Jimmy Valiant were tag team partners and "brothers," fighting Jones' Army of Superstar Graham, Abdullah the Butcher and the Barbarian. Suddenly, Whatley turned on Valiant, attacking him and cutting off his pony tail in the most shocking turnaround of the year, since many saw the Whatley-Valiant alliance as one based primarily on friendship.

After joining up with Jones, Whatley said that Valiant thought of him as a great black wrestler, when he was in fact just a great wrestler. Adding further insult to Valiant, Whatley said that he was working undercover for Jones for quite a while, infiltrating Valiant's circle of friends in order to break his spirit, in addition to soundly thrashing him in the ring.

As soon as Valiant was attacked, Manny Fernandez came to Valiant's aid. The alliance between the Ragin' Bull and Valiant was seen as stronger than the previous one with Whatley, since both men were longtime friends and have helped each other out of jams before, Valiant was ecstatic to have Fernandez, the man he called "Willie Willie," by his side, because he saw him as a man who would combat Jones' men.

Valiant and Fernandez battled together throughout the series of Great American Bashes, where they soundly defeated Jones' men in streetfights, pole matches and also a hair match in Charlotte, where Whatley became a "bald headed geek." The sight of Valiant and Fernandez shaving Whatley smooth as a cue ball was gratifying to wrestling fans, who longed to see Whatley get his payback for backstabbing Valiant.

"Forget loyalty—I'll take the bucks!" —Manny Fernandez

Immediately after the bashes, Valiant stated that he would retire from wrestling if he could not shave Jones bald during 1986, since Valiant lost an all-important hair match to Jones during one of the final bashes. The sadness and humiliation Valiant felt at not getting one up on Jones prompted him to make that declaration, as Jones saw a golden opportunity to finally put Valiant away for good by trying to lure Fernandez into his camp by waving money in front of his face.

Jones was relentless in pursuing Fernandez. He offered him anything he wanted to switch sides, but Fernandez refused, saying that he was Valiant's friend and would never double-cross the Boogie Woogie Man. This steadfast attitude saw an apparent about-face, when Fernandez accepted Jones' offer of a satchel filled with large bills, prior to a tag team match with Valiant against Baron Von Raschke and Whatley. The tension mounted as Jones told Fernandez that this was his last offer, and laid the money at his feet.

Fernandez flipped through the stacks of green slowly, as Valiant nodded his head to the crowd telling them that Fernandez was with him and not Jones. When the Bull slammed the case shut, Valiant nodded more approvingly while he stood up to confront Jones in center ring, who stood waiting with his hand outstretched. The entire crowd fell silent as Fernandez shook Jones' hand. Valiant stood absolutely motionless before asking Fernandez what he was doing. Valiant's answer was getting clubbed in the head with the satchel before Fernandez walked off with Jones. Then, Whatley and Von Raschke took great delight in stomping Valiant as he lay in the Ring.

The Ragin' Bull twists Baron Von Raschke's arm.

following week as he sported his new Army of Whatley, Von Raschke, Fernandez and Ravishing Rick Rude, who he said would stop Valiant cold if he ever tried messing with him. Fernandez further drove home the point by attacking Wahoo McDaniel on television, proving that he is truly one of Jones' high priced mercenaries, loyal only to money and not to anything else.

Jones seemed to be sitting pretty until a six man tag match between Rude, Von Raschke and Whatley against the Kansas Jayhawks and Brad Armstrong aired on World Championship Wrestling. During the course of the match, Von Raschke was about to be pinned by Armstrong twice, when Whatley, and then Rude, ran in to kick Armstrong off of their partner. Both times, Armstrong moved out of the way, allowing Von Raschke to get stomped by his own friends. In the confusion after Rude's attempted kick, Von Raschke was pinned, causing the Baron to confront both his partners who finally calmed him down as the Baron threatened them with the claw.

As he turned his back, Jones clubbed him from behind with his riding crop, in a surprising move since the Baron had saved Jones many times from Valiant. The blow from Jones caused the Baron to fly off the handle. The Baron immediately clamped the claw on the loudmouthed manager until Rude, Whatley and Fernandez rushed into the ring to save Jones from severe injury. Then, the three madmen attacked the Baron until they threw him into Fernandez' flying burrito, which leveled him to the mat. Suddenly the Jayhawks, Armstrong and McDaniel, came to Von Raschke's rescue, chasing Jones and his men away.

Jones quickly denounced Von Raschke as the one man who couldn't keep up with the high standards he expects from his men. The Baron became expendable after Fernandez joined the fold. With Von Raschke and Valiant on his tail, Jones is a marked man, moving towards Starcade '86 when he again finds himself in a hair match against Valiant. Valiant will put up the hair of his lady, big Mama, against that of Jones'. Jones has stated that Fernandez will be in his corner for the match and it is most likely that Von Raschke will be seconding Valiant in what could be the grudge match of the decade.

Jones has always had a history of leaping before looking, and the recent episodes with Valiant, Fernandez and Von Raschke are no exception. While many people are shocked at Fernandez' change of allegiance, there is a glimmer of hope that this could be an elaborate set up concocted by Valiant and Fernandez to finally trap Jones. If that is the case, adding Von Raschke to the already boiling kettle makes the situation even more interesting, as Jones may finally get the treatment he has had coming for so long. Regardless of what you think of him, Paul Jones is a clever and devious manager, but nonetheless, he might soon become wrestling's newest bald headed geek. ★

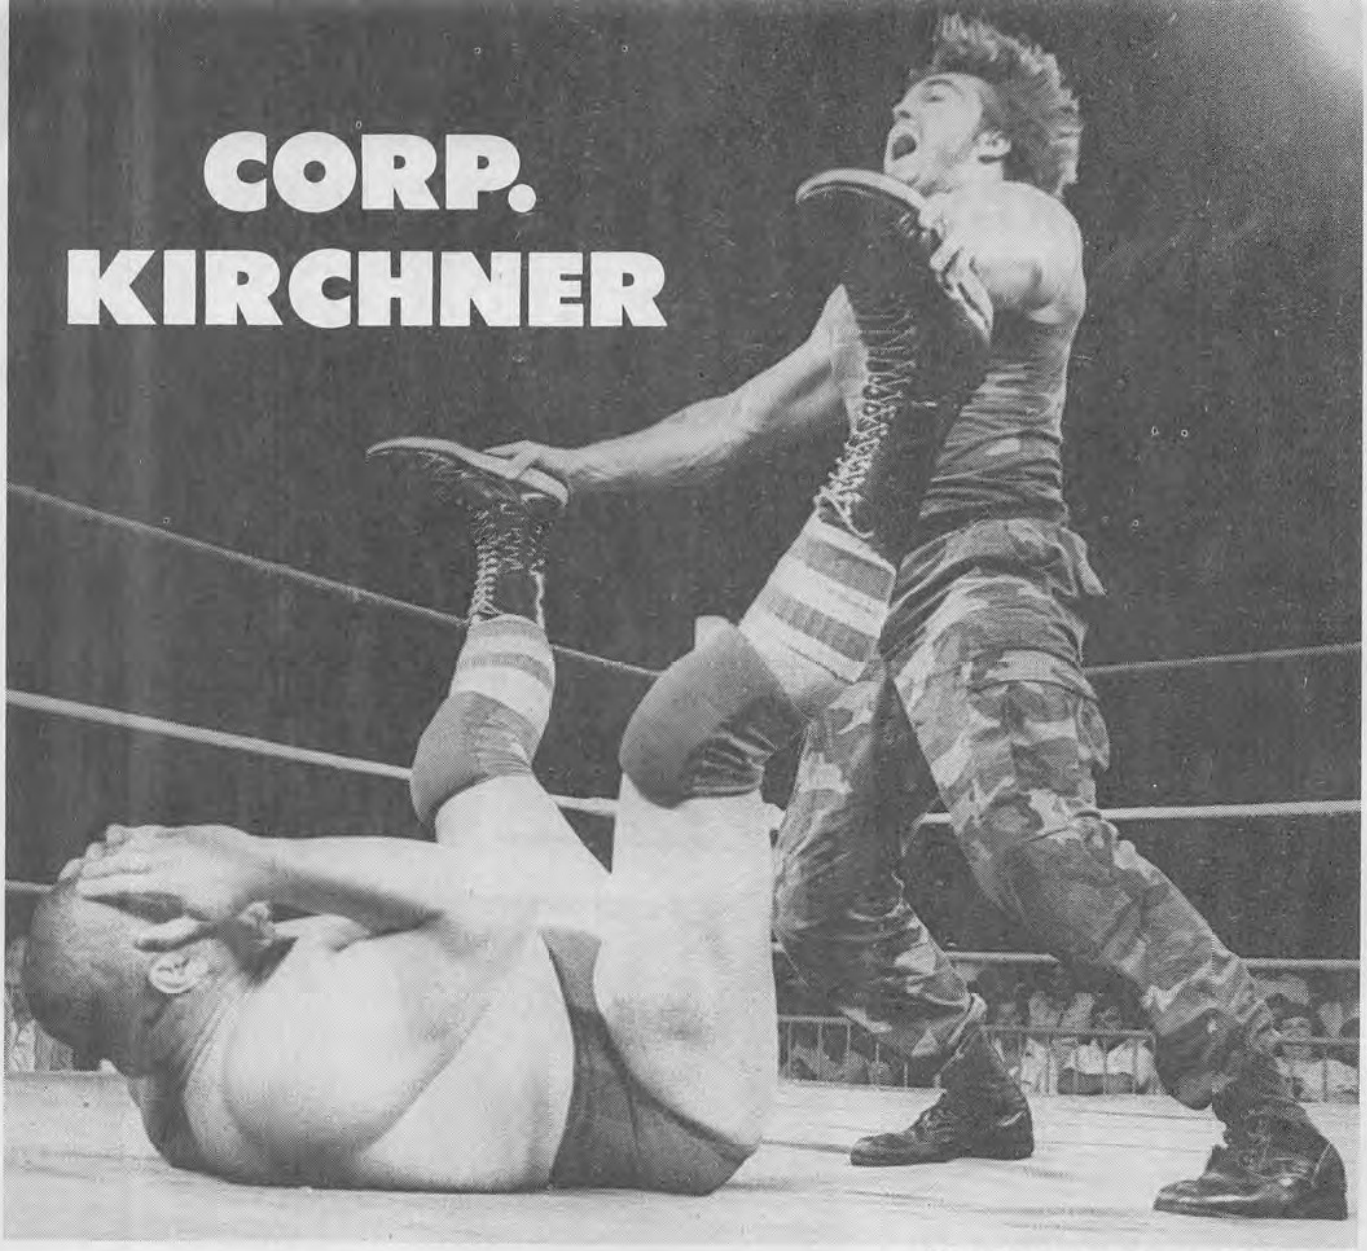
CORP. KIRCHNER



The Corp. tries to split Volkoff in two.

Fighting the American way!

Ever since Corporal Kirchner entered the WWF area, he's waged a personal war for truth, justice, and the American way. To this end, the Corporal has found himself battling for America against the foreign forces of Iran's Iron Sheik and Russia's Nikolai Volkoff. The Corporal has been fighting against these two foreigners for what seems like an eternity, yet his personal conquest is far from over.

"I will never stop fighting them," Kirchner sneered. "They stand for everything I despise. They hate America and all that it stands for, yet they continue to stay here and belittle everything about us. If they don't like it around here, why don't they leave? This is a free country. They can come and go as they please, and I for one would rather see them go."

Actually this strong pro-America stand has been seen before. Sgt. Slaughter first fought for America's rights several years ago, with his number one enemy, the Iron Sheik. Slaughter battled the Sheik all over the country and soundly trashed his rival every chance he got. Their most celebrated battle took place in Madison Square Garden in a boot camp match. After the battle, Sgt. Slaughter emerged with his head up high, while the dastardly Sheik had to crawl out of the Garden ring on his knees.

Although badly beaten, the Sheik was still far from finished. Several months later, after the Sarge left the WWF looking for new worlds to conquer, the Iranian joined forces with Russia's Nikolai Volkoff. When they first teamed up, the Sheik and Volkoff made a pact to stick together and fight against America. They've been together now nearly three years and they still feel the same way about the good old US of A!

When Corporal Kirchner came on the scene two years ago, straight from a stint in the 82nd Marine airborne division, he lacked the wrestling expertise needed to trash the foreigners. Eventually, the moves came, and with this, his desire to beat the Sheik and Volkoff grew more intense. Soon he was obsessed. Destroying the Sheik and Volkoff became his number one mission in life.

"Beating Volkoff and the Sheik mean more to me than titles, money, prestige and glory." Kirchner declared. "All I care about is fighting for the honor of America."

In their early battles Volkoff and the Sheik always found a way to beat the die-hard American. No matter how hard he tried, the Corporal just couldn't defeat the two foreigners. Nikolai Volkoff eventually became so convinced of his superiority over Kirchner that he even suggested fighting him in a "Peace Match." The rules called for no outside interference or illegal tactics, with the winner flying the loser's flag high over head.

The Corporal readily agreed to the battle, but many actually doubted that the American would win the encounter, due to the Russian's vast experience and wrestling know-how. Kirchner was even confronted by several of his so-called friends, and asked to reconsider taking on the match, but the Corporal was adament. He knew he had something to prove to himself, his friends and most of all, his foreign enemies.

The match was simply outstanding. The Corporal and Volkoff battled hold for hold, move for move. Eventually, Kirchner's outstanding wrestling tactics began to frustrate the Russian. Catching Kirshner coming off the ropes, the Russian planted a knee right to his mid section. Kirchner doubled up in pain, and seeing his opening, Volkoff returned to his normal rule-breaking ways. But this night the Corporal was not to be denied!

Catching the Russian with a surprise right hook, Kirchner decked Volkoff and then rolled him up in a small package to win the bout. Good had triumphed over evil. The match not only showed that the Corporal was a force to be reckoned with, but it also showed Volkoff and the Sheik that their reign of terror was over!

For the next several months, Kirchner and Volkoff continued to wage war—and always with the same results. Soon Corporal Kirchner had firmly established himself as a star! It looked like the Sheik and Volkoff were on the verge of leaving the U.S. when they hooked up with a new manager, Slick. Slick re-instilled in them that fighting spirit, and the foreigners are once again knocking off opponents at a record pace.

But what about Kirchner? Since Slick's arrival in the WWF, the Corporal has been out of the country and unable to defend America's honor. This time, however, it looks as if the Sheik and Volkoff may be a little too tough for Kirchner to handle by himself. The time has definitely come for Sgt. Slaughter to return to the WWF scene and team with the Corporal. Together Kirchner and Slaughter should be able to send the Sheik and Volkoff scampering back where they came from. ★

This shocking announcement brought the wrestling world to a standstill. No one ever expected to see the big, powerful Russian stand side by side with the American Dream.

"This has been a very trying time for the American Dream," Rhodes comments. "After what happened to my closest friend, Magnum TA, I didn't know what to expect. When it happened, Nikita Koloff called me on the phone and we talked for hours. Then we met, and we talked for several more hours. spect him. That's why I call. I do what I want to do. Not the Kremlin, nor Uncle Ivan tell Nikita Koloff what to do. I have no law. I do what I want and the time has come to patch things up with America."

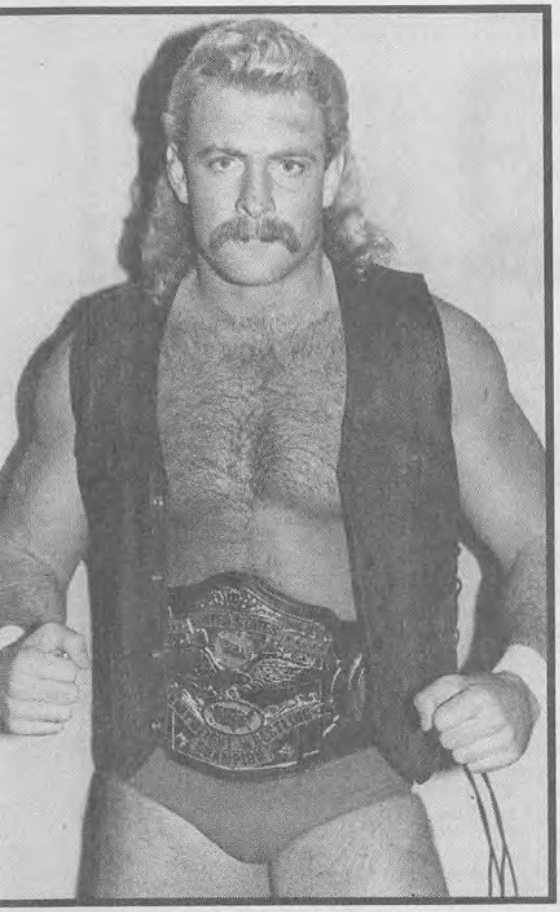
Although the thought of Dusty Rhodes and Nikita Koloff teaming together seems very strange, it's now a reality. But, can the two super powers really work side by side? It may last for a while, but like the disappointment of the summit in Iceland, who knows if the American Dream and the Russian Nightmare will be able to work out their differences and stay together. ★

What effect will the pairing of Dusty and Nikita have on Russian comraderie?



Magnum's absence on the scene has necessitated a shift in the super power alignment.

That's right -- in the privacy of your home.

The answer is Universal Bodybuilding's easy "3 Muscle-Pumping Workouts A Week" way. Simple as 1 - 2 - 3. And the great news is, you can use weights or not. Whichever you prefer. Yet you get the same great results.

But they'll soon start asking, "Say, you look great. Are you going to a gym?" You just grin and say, "Glad you like what you see!"

Then dash home and get your time in. It's the greatest feeling in the world to watch your body suddenly become the type you've always admired on other guys. You'll feel more confident, get more respect, feel more alive, ready to tackle the world. That's what a good build does for you.
